LATEST REPORT OF THE CASE

But Mr. Kilgore Sheds Some Light on Identity of the Shanty-Boater.

The Boat Found Below Belonged to a Colored "Fortune-Teller" Called "Quick Step."

OWNER HAS NOT YET SHOWN UP

Washington, Feb. 5.—The army post board, which has been in session in Washington intermittently since November 28 last, concluded its labors and adjourned sine die today. The board was charged with the preparation of a scheme for the location and distribution of military posts, including the abolishment of existing posts, which are now useless from a modern military point of view, and the planning of new posts on strategic points. It also was to locate the four great camps for the training of soldiers of the regular army and their operative drill with the militia. These things have been done and the board's report is now before Secretary Root, who will send it to Congress. The report has not yet been made public.

It is understood that there has been a considerable divergence of view among members of the board as to the location of new posts. Lieutenant General Miles, the president of the board, has taken a strong position against the location of new posts in the vicinity of great cities, on the ground that it can only be construed as intended to menace organized labor, and has gone so far as to enter a formal protest with Secretary Root against such locations.

MATRIMONIAL SWINDLE.

ATTORNEY BACON AND WIFE HELD IN A THOUSAND DOLLARS BAIL.

Philadelphia, Feb. 5.—Attorney J. Francis Bacon and his wife were today held in $1,000 bail for trial, charged with conspiracy. The defendants are accused of conspiring to obtain $4,000 from Henrietta Mueller. The principal witness for the prosecution was Frederick J. Stover, alias Baron Von Wittemburg, who testified that he had met the Mueller woman in Germany, and passing himself as a nobleman, made an engagement to marry her last spring in this country. Stover said he had no money, and through an advertisement secured the assistance of Bacon in his efforts to secure Mrs. Mueller's money.

Bacon and Stover, according to the latter's story, met Mrs. Mueller in New York and Stover married her under the name of Baron Von Wittemburg. Bacon and his wife, witnessing the ceremony, Stover admitted that he already had a wife living. He secured from Mrs. Mueller a draft for $8,000, which he says he gave to Bacon. The latter, Stover testified, kept all the money except a few hundred dollars. Stover at present is under arrest under the charge of embezzlement.

MARRIED AT DECATUR.

PADUCAH YOUNG LADY WEDS YOUNG MAN FROM CHICAGO.

The marriage of Miss C. B. Phillips of the city, daughter of Captain W. W. Phillips to Mr. Bert Fisher of Chicago, took place at noon today at the home of Mrs. Joseph Weig, an aunt of the groom, whom the bride was visiting.

After visiting at Decatur a few days, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will go to Chicago to reside. Miss Phillips attended a house party at Judge Crawford's, in Carbondale, for a few days, before going to Decatur.

The bride is a sweet, poppling girl, and has a host of admirers in the city. She is a sister of Mrs. Ed. O. Yancy. Mr. Fisher is employed by the Edison Electric company of Chicago, but formerly resided here.

They will reside in Chicago.

EXPLOSION ON TOWBOAT.

THREE OF THE CREW FATALLY HURT AND ONLY FIVE OTHERS HAVE BEEN ACCOUNDED FOR.

Pittsburg, Feb. 5.—At about 1:15 o'clock this morning just as the Pittsburg harbor towboat J. W. Alles had passed through Lock No. 2 her boilers exploded, throwing her crew of fourteen in all directions. Three of the crew are known to be fatally hurt, and only five others have been accounted for.

Fatally injured: Joseph Ronkin, deckhand; "Brownie," watchman; Maria Walker, colored, cook. All are horribly scalded and burned.

Just a few more sleds left at the Arcade. You'll have to hurry.

Will Paducah Become a City of the Second Class, According to Report?

It is Understood the Bill Will Never Be Given Final Passage in the Legislature.

THE FACTS IN THE CASE AS REPORTED

The owner of the shanty boat found near Metropolis, well furnished and with a lamp burning in it, has not yet turned up, but Mr. J. L. Kilgore, the leading factory man of Mechanicsburg, is able to shed some light on the mystery.

The boat was moored near his mill all last summer, and was owned and occupied by an old darky who professed to be a fortune teller, and who was known by everybody in that part of town as "Quickstep."

He claimed to have wonderful occult powers, among which was that of telling where any steamboat was at any time, no matter how far away. He was well patronized by the colored people of that locality, and by many white people, but no one seems to remember his name, but is the one on the license found on the boat is Newman, and also bears the word "Quickstep," that is doubtless his name.

The boat was moved several weeks ago, but it is understood was moored lower down, near Island Creek, subsequently.

Where the old darky has gone, and whether he met with foul play or not is a matter that is now puzzling the police. The condition in which the boat was found indicates that it was lastly abandoned, or the lamp would not have been lighted. It had been broken loose, or have floated away by a rise in the river, it is reasonable to suppose that the owner would have shopped out and made some effort to overtake and recover it at once, but it may such steps have been taken they do not know anything about it.

The boat is still being held at Metropolis, and a great deal of interest is being taken in the case.

IT IS SETTLED

But the Report of the Army Post Board Not Made Public.

The Four Posts Decided on But Paducah Was Probably Not Successful.

Washington, Feb. 5.—It was stated today by a United States senator who stands very close to the President that the latter had practically decided to hold, in the Schley appeal, that Rear Admiral Schley was in command "under orders" of the American squadron during the battle of Santiago. That would be, if held, a graceful turn down to Admiral Sampson and give Admiral Schley sufficient vindication. Just how soon this decision is to be announced is not stated, but it is expected by the end of the present week. Secretary Long emphatically denies that the President has given any indication of his intentions as far as the Schley case is concerned. If the decision is as indicated by the United States Senator's forecast, it is regarded as very certain that Secretary Long will resign.

ADVANCING BILLS.

THE SCHLEY BILL REPORTED ADVERSELY, BUT ADVANCED, NEVVER THELESS.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 5.—Hickman this morning introduced a bill in the senate to put osteopaths on the same statutory ground as physicians.

Hickman's bill to abolish the anti-Schley school books was reported on adversely, but advanced to its second reading.

The house spent the entire morning advancing bills.

Mr. Pogue, of Crittenden and Livingston, introduced in the house a bill to make the present coal mining laws apply to mines and miners of all kinds, such as clay and flint.

The Senate today adopted a resolution appointing a committee to reportion the railroad commissioners' districts.

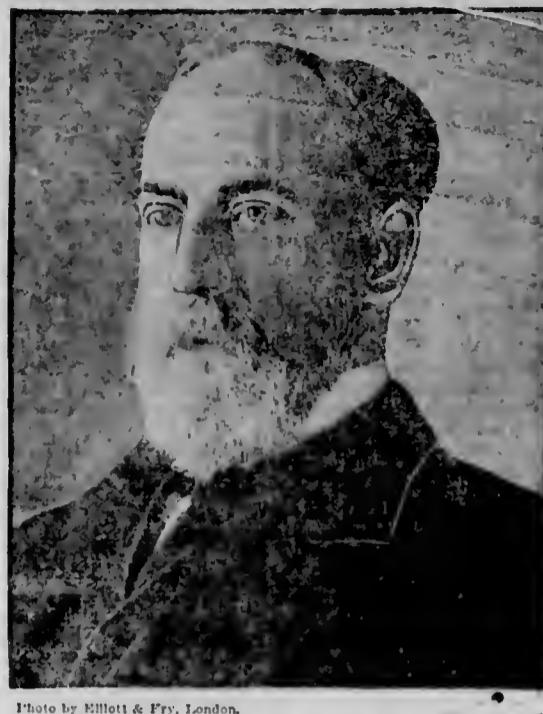

THE WEATHER.

For Kentucky—Snow tonight, with rising temperature. Thursday, snow or rain, and warmer.

The mercury did not go as low last night as on the preceding night. The minimum was 10 degrees, and this morning there had been quite a thaw.

COUNTY COURT.

E. H. Hiley has given E. H. Puryear power of attorney to do business in this city in his name.

SIR CHARLES DILKE.

When the English parliament reconvenes, which event will occur in a few days, it is expected that there will be an outbreak of speeches on the South African campaign. Most important of these will probably be one by Sir Charles Dilke, who is regarded as the greatest military authority in England. In a recent article in The Fortnightly Review he advocated the adoption of guerrilla tactics in fighting the Boers.

WORK AT ONCE.

Mr. Chamblin Gets the Contract For Contractor Halloran Made a Quick Trip Home Last Night.

The Excavations Will Begin at Once at First and Broadway.

Brought from Union Depot to the Palmer in Driverless Hack.

The big warehouse to be erected here by Armor and Co., mentioned yesterday, will be started at once, and excavations for the cellar began this morning. The brick work contract has been let to Mr. C. H. Chamblin, and Representative Clark, who presented the bill, will be present at the ceremony.

It is understood that an agreement was made with State Senator McD. Ferguson that the bill transferring Paducah to the second class was to be held up in the senate until he received notice from Paducah to advance it. Representative Clark, who presented the bill, will be present at the ceremony.

Captain Halloran discovered his pre-arrangement soon after they started, "but there was no way to get out, on account of the speed," with which the animals were taking him. He was compelled to sit still and think of the many things that were liable to happen to him. Nothing happened to reduce the speed of the horses, nor to stop them, however, and almost immediately they came directly to the Palmer House and stopped, and Captain Halloran got out.

The building will be erected at First and Broadway, on the railroad company's property, and will be a big thing for Paducah. A gentleman named Sims will represent Armor and Co. here as agent.

It has been reported that Cudahy and Co. will also build a warehouse here, but this has not yet been settled.

An agent was here several days ago investigating the advisability of it.

REV. H. B. JOHNSTON

PREACHES A FINE TEMPERANCE SERMON.

Last night was the time for holding the monthly temperance mass meeting, and a goodly crowd assembled at the Christian church to hear Rev. H. B. Johnston, of Paducah, preach a most excellent temperance sermon, on the subject of Pendleton's abstinence. While the sermon was designed for the young, the young men, particularly yet it contained wholesome advice for all, of every age and sex. As a preacher, Rev. Johnston is a leader not only in his own denomination, but in the ministry generally. The attendance last night would have been much larger, but for the fact that it was not understood that there would be held a temperance service, as the wires were down and the city light company couldn't furnish it.—Mayfield Messenger.

JUDGE SANDERS ILL.

Judge D. L. Sanders is still confined to his home on Jefferson street, but is not confined to his bed. His many friends will be pleased to see him out again, which will not be until the present weather is gone.

WILL BE "DOINGS"

"Faust" Company Coming Here to Play Next Tuesday, But Won't Play.

Advance Agent Arrested on a Warrant Taken Out by Manager English Today.

CASE CAME UP IN THE POLICE COURT

Manager J. E. English of the Kentucky had Advance Agent T. M. Jordan of Morrison's "Faust" arrested late yesterday afternoon on a charge of trespass. And thereby hangs a tale of considerable interest, indicating that all is not as rosy as might be expected in the management of an opera house.

One of the attractions booked for The Kentucky was "Faust," for next Tuesday night, Feb. 11th. Manager English claims he booked it under the impression that it was Morrison himself and his own company who would play it, but later he ascertained that it was the No. 2 company, and four weeks ago telegraphed and wrote a cancellation of the date.

James Murray, who owns the company, "Lost River," and other companies, replied that he would not accept the cancellation, but would send his advance man if nothing had happened, and also bring the show here next Tuesday. Manager English then gave orders at The Kentucky that none of the paper of the company was to be allowed inside the house, nor any representative of the company be permitted to come in in a business capacity.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Jordan arrived and presenting himself inside the box office, introduced himself. He was informed by Manager English that he was welcome personally, but in a business capacity he had no business there, and in a business capacity must get out. Personally he could remain as long as he liked.

Mr. Jordan was very pleasant and remained some time talking to Manager English. He explained that he was simply obeying orders from headquarters in coming to Paducah. Mr. English explained why he had taken such action, and that none of the paper of the company could be allowed in the house.

In the afternoon again Mr. Jordan, who informed him that he had delivered the paper to one of the stage hands, and it had been accepted. Manager English reiterated any such action as being unauthorized, and Stage Manager Malone claims the paper was put in contrary to his orders.

The carriage had a rough trip of it, but fortunately missed every obstruction, and the instinct of the horses guided them as well as the driver could have done it.

HAS A WIFE.

MRS. HARRY SEAWELL WAS FORMERLY MISS STARR.

The Sun is in receipt of a note from a lady signing herself "Mrs. Harry Seawell" of Paducah. She states that she and Seawell were married in Chicago last April 15th, and she was formerly Miss Elizabeth H. Starr. They have no child. Seawell is the man in jail at Murphyboro, Ill., for defrauding Elks. It was stated he had no wife here, but it seems he has.

A CALLED MEETING

Fiscal Court Met This Morning But Little Business Was Transacted.

The Purpose to Consider the Finances of the County—Bonds May Be Refunded.

ADJOURNED TO MEET THE ELEVENTH

Fiscal court met this morning in called session at the court house. County Judge Lightfoot presiding. It is Judge Lightfoot's first experience in presiding over fiscal court.

The purpose of the meeting is to adjust the finances of the county. The principal object, it is understood, is to take some action regarding the refunding of county bonds.

McCracken county is bonded for $500,000. In 1903 $100,000 of these bonds will mature, and there is now $60,000. By the time they are due, it is said, there will be enough out of the other levies to pay the whole $100,000.

The object of fiscal court is to consider the advisability of refunding the $100,000 bonds due next year, of about

DAILY THOUGHT

"It is better to fight for the good than to rail at the ill."

WISE SET OF SOLONS

The city council continues to exhibit its usual brightness. The effigies of that body, with its backwoods orators and antedeluvian statesmen, some of whom never had a mind in life and never will, will soon become such that the electric lights will look dim in comparison. When the council first went into office it reconsidered some things that its predecessor had done. Monday night in a similar case it decided that it had no right to reconsider an ordinance that had been passed, although the minute had not yet been adopted; and were not yet in the official record. This was the telephone ordinance. It seems that for the sake of increasing the property values in the city, and in the possible reduction of telephone rates to the extent of a few dollars, the council, under the fond delusion that it is doing the public a service, is going to push the telephone business through and afterwards have the solemn imprecations of a large constituency follow them wherever they go. They have had no experience with the dual telephone system, but what is the difference? There is nothing come of these massacres don't know merely by intuition. The councilmen of Paducah, most of whom doubtless never saw two telephone systems in operation in their lives, know more right now about the workings of two systems than men who have had daily contact with them for years. They know more, in their own estimation, on any subject than all the sages and oracles combined, and there's no use in trying to tell them anything. For instance, they know that out of a large number of reputable, intelligent people who have been using two telephones in various cities where there are two systems, 98 per cent have expressed themselves as opposed to the dual system, claiming that it is a nuisance, and has no advantages except a small reduction of rates, while a trial has convinced them all that they would rather pay the old rates again, and have one system. Although these councilmen know nothing at all about the dual telephone system except what they imagine, they prefer their own infallible erudition to the knowledge, based on experience, of 98 per cent of innumerable people who have written to the requests of the Retail Grocers' Association of Paducah.

The fact is that these embryo statesmen imagine that the principle of the property, the foundry, the drug business, and other businesses can be successfully applied to the telephone business. They think that competition is the life of the telephone trade as well as of others, but it isn't. Suppose that Paducah gets two systems. Doubtless the rates will be reduced, but so will the number of telephones one can connect with, by the division of patronage, and the number of localities they can talk to, for each company will have its own subscribers, and while the amount of money a person has to pay may be smaller than at present, so will the number of available telephones be smaller. It is true that to establish another company here will afford work for many people for a time and will result in much money being spent here for a time, and will also result in an increase in the valuation of property, and in the taxes imposed and collected every year. But it will not be perceptible, and the meager benefit to be thus derived by the public will be so small that we cannot perceive it, while the disadvantages will be apparent every day in the year.

All the merchants will have to go to the expense of having two telephones or two business as a result of their inability to take orders over both lines, and there will be a constant howl after the people begin to realize that the rates play a small part in the satisfactory operation of a telephone system.

A city council, however, that never saw the dual telephone system work, and yet knows more about it than several hundred people who have daily had experience with it for months and years, like a city council to be proud of. It ought to be preserved in alcohol for future generations to admire.

Mr. Gernack, of Tennessee, who made his maiden speech in the United States Senate Monday on the Philippines question, gave a few old warmed-over Democratic arguments. The whole gist of his remarks was that the policy pursued towards the Philippines is wrong—presumably because it is the Republican policy, and Mr. Gernack is a Democrat—and the poor martyrs should be given their freedom. Such bungoing is really unworthy of notice, for it is too silly. The proposition to haul down the American flag in the Philippines, or anywhere else it has floated as an emblem of possession and power, is one that will be straightway repudiated by the people of the United States. We haul down our flag nowhere. It stands for oppression and despotism nowhere. Those who claim that the Filipinos are fighting for liberty are stupid. We have liberty, and we boast of our freedom and liberty. If the Philippines is a part of us, and we have liberty, the people there could get no better liberty than we offer them. It is good enough for us, it is good enough for them. To contend that they are fighting for independence and liberty as the followers of Washington fought for it, is to assert that we are oppressive and unjust, and stand in the same attitude towards them for whom we have fought and spent millions of money and much time, as the English stood towards us—as tyrants and oppressors. No one believes that we have not done what was best for the Cuban and Filipino, as far as we were able, and as far as they have permitted us. The Filipinos are ignorant and angry, fully fighting us to prevent our doing them a greater wrong. They are not averse from venturing out alone at present. It would mean sure destruction for them, and nothing better could be done for them than to trust to the United States. What is the liberty the Democrats contend the Filipinos and Cubans want, and what would they do with it if they had it?

It is reported from Cuba that there must be relief or the prospects of a stable government will be obviated. There have never been brighter prospects of a stable government there under any circumstances.

It is expected that President Roosevelt will end the Schley controversy when he renders his decision, but the decision has not yet been rendered. The principal thing to know is what that decision is.

"TATE'S" DISTINCTION.

"Tate" is an old negro well known, according to the Philadelphia Ledger, to many of the attachés of the city hall, for whom he does odd jobs at their homes.

One day Tate asked one of his employers if he would kindly read a note for him. The request was granted. The note proved to be a perfectly legible request for Tate's services as a whitewasher and cleaner of cellars.

"Why, Tate," said the man, "this is very plainly written, and you ought to be able to read it yourself. I have frequently seen you reading the papers."

"Well, that's just it," replied Tate. "I kin read readin' readin', but I can't read writin' readin'."

TO MARRY IN MAYFIELD

Mr. Robert Martin, bookkeeper for M. Livingston and Co., and Miss Mary Ridgeway, the latter of Mayfield, will be married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Ridgeway, at Mayfield, next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. J. W. Irion of the Trimble street Methodist church, of Paducah, officiating. They will go to Louisville and other cities on a bridal tour, and will be at home here on West Harrison street after February 24. Mr. Martin is one of the best known young men in Paducah, and Miss Ridgeway is one of Mayfield's most popular young ladies.

Mothers can safely give Foley's Honey and Tar to their children for coughs and colds, for it contains no opium or other poisons.

DWIGHT, ILL. FIRE.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 5.—The city of Dwight suffered a $300,000 fire last evening. The great laboratory of the Keely Institute was completely destroyed, together with the Livingstone hotel, a brick and stone structure, owned and controlled by the Keely company.

Winter coughs are apt to result in consumption if neglected. They can be soon broken up by using Foley's Honey and Tar.

J. C. GILBERT.

TWO WILL DIE.

Clinton, O., Feb. 5.—The huge Hayes truck of the fire department collided at Seventh and Race with a trolley car with disastrous results. Five persons were badly hurt, two of whom will die. Benjamin Rothkamp, driver of the truck, and Chas. Bonch, the motorman, are the fatally injured.

Foley's Honey and Tar cures the cough caused by attack of grip. It heals the lungs.

A TEST EXPERIMENT

PECULIAR POWER POSSESSED

BY A NEW MEDICINE.

Of new discoveries there is no end, but one of the most recent, most remarkable and one which will prove invaluable to thousands of people in a discovery which it is believed will take the place of all other remedies for the cure of those common and obstinate diseases, dyspepsia and stomach trouble. This discovery is not a fondly advertised, secret patent medicine, but is a scientific combination of wholesome, perfectly harmless vegetable essences, fruit salts, pure poppy and bismuth.

These remedies are combined in loose form, pleasant to take, and will preserve their good qualities indefinitely, whereas all liquid medicines rapidly lose whatever good qualities they may have had as soon as corked and exposed to the air.

This preparation is called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and it is claimed that one of these tablets or lozenges will digest from 800 to 3,000 times its own weight of meat, eggs and other wholesome food. And this claim has been proven by actual experiments in the following manner: A hard boiled egg cut into small pieces was placed in a bottle containing warm water, heated to ninety-eight degrees, or blood heat, one of these tablets was then placed in the bottle and the proper temperatures maintained for three hours and a half, at the end of which time the egg was as completely digested as it would have been in a healthy stomach. This experiment was undertaken to demonstrate that what it would do in the bottle it would also do in the stomach, hence its unquestionable value in the cure of dyspepsia and weak digestion. Very few people are free from some form of indigestion, but scarcely two will have the same symptoms. Some will suffer most from distress after eating, bloating from gas in the stomach and bowels; others have acid dyspepsia or heartburn, others palpitation or headaches, sleeplessness, pains in chest and under shoulder blades, extreme nervousness, as in nervous dyspepsia, but they all have same cause, failure to properly digest what is eaten. The stomach must have rest and assistance, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give it both, by digesting the food for it and in a short time it is restored to its normal action and vigor. At same time the Tablets are so harmless that a child can take them with benefit. This new preparation has already made many astonishing cures, as for instance, the following:

After using only one package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, I have received such great and unexpected benefit that I wish to express my sincere gratitude. In fact, it has been six months since I took the package, and I have not had one particle of distress or difficulty since. And all this in the face of the fact that the best doctors I consulted told me my case was chronic dyspepsia, and absolutely incurable, as I had suffered twenty-five years. I distributed half a dozen packages among my friends here, who are very anxious to try this remedy.

Mrs. Sarah A. Skeets, Llynville, Jasper Co., Mo. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents for full sized packages. A little book on stomach diseases mailed free by addressing F. A. Stuart, Co., Marshall, Mich.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICE

In the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Kentucky, in Bankruptcy.

In the matter of Ben J. Hart, a bankrupt.

On this 4th day of February, A. D., 1902, on considering the petition of the aforesaid bankrupt for discharge, filed on the 4th day of February, A. D., 1902, before said court, a hearing was had upon the same on the 23d day of February, A. D., 1902, before said court, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, or as near thereto as practicable, and that notice thereof be published one time in the Paducah Sun, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

One small matter was brought up and acted on after the bills were allowed. The music committee was instructed to rent a piano for term of three months, beginning with March 1, for the use of the High School.

Supt. Hatfield said this morning in regard to the request made on the board some time ago to purchase a physical and botanical apparatus for the use of the high school that he thought the apparatus would be purchased. The matter was referred to the supply committee and they have reported the costs of the instruments. The board members are mostly in favor of purchasing them and if secured the high school will have secured a long felt want.

B. F. Young, et al.

Steamer Key City.

Whereas libels were filed in the district court of the United States, at Paducah, Ky., on the 1st day of February, 1902, by B. F. Young and others against the steamer Key City, her engines, truck, apparel, furniture, etc., alleging in substance that said steamer was indebted to them in the sum of $124.85, for wages as scameen on said steamer; that the said steamer is jointly indebted to them in the said sum; that same has never been paid, and pray process against said steamer, and that it be condemned and sold to pay said claim, with costs and expenses.

Now, therefore, in pursuance to the motion of the said court and to me directed, I do hereby give public notice to all persons claiming the said steamer Key City, or in any manner interested therein, that they be and appear in the district court of the United States in the city of Paducah, Ky., on or before the 3d day of March, 1902, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, there and there to interpose their claims and to make their allegations in that behalf.

WITH THE FEBRUARY MAGAZINES.

The World's Work for February publishes entire, for the first time in America, Rudyard Kipling's "The Is-landers," which has raised a veritable furor of discussion in England. Frank Norris, the author of "The Octopus," in an article entitled "The Frontier Gone at Last," shows how the Anglo-Saxons have at last circled the globe with conquest. Captain Mahan adds an interesting paper on "The Growth of Our National Feeling." George Liles writes of Marconi's triumph. An intimate view of Dr. Lyman Abbott is given by Hamilton Wright Mabie. Mr. Abbott's associate on The Outlook, and the striking career and personality of Tom Johnson is described with particular reference to his work as mayor of Cleveland. A plea for better wages for teachers is made by William McAndrew, and the consolidation of American railroads is described, with a colored map for illustration, by M. G. Chaffin. Among the other illustrated articles are a description of the wonderful La Prensa, the Itaen Ayres philanthropic newspaper, a story by Arthur Goodrich of how the Connecticut farmers are growing tobacco under tents, Helen Lukens Jones' description of the greatest olive ranch in the world in California, the exciting experiences of the party who carried the United States mail further north in Alaska, by Dr. Francis H. Gamble. "The March of Events, and Among the World Workers," ran over their usual wide gamut of topics of contemporary interest.

The February number of Success has a strikingly attractive table of contents; it might be called the Lin-coln number. The cover design, by P. L. Hoyt, shows the great commoner resting at his rail splitting to study, and an article by Ex-Speaker Gushas A. Grow, a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln, tells, in a graphic manner, of Lincoln's most trying week in the White House, when he was waiting for the Union troops to save, or the Confederate troops to destroy the capital. Lewis Nixon contributes an article which predicts how submarine boats will, undoubtedly, alter naval warfare. Other important articles are: "Training for the Duties of Home Life," by Mary A. Livermore; "Machine Tools that Seem to Have Human Instinct," by Frank H. Payant; "American Rule is Aliving," Cuba's "New Life," by Emily Nunes; "A Cripple Whose Energy Gives Inspiration," by Theodore Dreiser; "Habits that Make Men and Women Boomerang Targets," by Ella Wheeler Wilcox; "What Musician Will Win Success?" by Jan Kuselik; and "To Girls Who Wish to Become Operatic Stars," by Lilli Lehmann. The important series, "Business and the Larger Life," which is being conducted by Edwin Markham, is continued in this number. Frank H. Spearman, the noted author of "Hold for Ordeals," supplies a remarkable piece of fiction entitled "The Credit Man's Story."

Among the things of note in the February magazine number of The Outlook may be mentioned: A beautifully illustrated article by Mr. George Konan, now acting as The Outlook's Washington representative, on the proposal for enlarging the White House, with architects' plans; an article on Versetachia, by Charles DeKay of the National Arts club, with reproductions of famous paintings; "The Centenary of Victor Hugo," by Kenyon Woat, with portraits; Dr. Edward Everett Hale's "Memories of a Hundred Years," which deals this month chiefly with the war of 1812; a remarkable whole page portrait of Archbishop Ireland; an article appropriate to Washington's Birthday, called "In the Footsteps of Washington," by Charles H. Mattock, together with usual book reviews, history of the week and editorial comments on important questions of the day.

The Cosmopolitan for February is the Midwinter Fiction number, and has a good supply of stories and articles. The most interesting article in this number is "The Story of Theodore Roosevelt's Life" that is being told by Jacob A. Riis. The thoughts of a great man by a great man are always worth reading. I. Zangwill has a story of "mine own people," told with Zangwill's art. Bret Harte's a readable California story. "The Married Flirt" is an article in a lighter vein, by Lavinia Hart that will read. John Brisbane Walker tells of the "Capital and Labor Commission." Lewis Nixon contributes an article on "The Developement of Shipping in the United States."

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for February is advertised as "an old name, but a new magazine," and nothing could be more literally true. From the first page to the last the magazine is thoroughly modern, and both in the character of its reading matter and of its illustrations, printed in colors and in black and white, it is in the running with the most expensive magazines. The opening article, called "The City's Edge," is a very human account of the life along the water front of New York City. Norman Hapgood, author of the recently published "Life of George Washington," contributes a very interesting account of Washington's crafty attempt to capture Benedict Arnold. Another article of importance concerns the wonderful commercial fleet which whets the Great Lakes, while in lighter vein is a paper on the English color managers who are invading America half a dozen strong. The fiction in the number is plentiful, and really first rate. Onoto Watanna's story, "A Pot of Paint," is, as she says herself, the very best thing she has done. Robert Barr, Carolyn Wells, W. B. Macauley and several other story tellers of note fill up the good measure of short fiction in this number, which, also, sees the close of Maurice Hawlett's serial, "The Fond Adventure."

John Strange Winter, Mrs. Arthur Stannard, the author of the novel in February's Lippincott, needs no introduction to fiction readers. This latest tale is called "The Standings," after the interesting family of a poor English artist. Lippincott's Magazine this month sustains its record for striking short stories. One of these, by Charles H. Cullen, is entitled "For the Honor of His Wife." Another, by Priscilla W. Hart, entitled "The Abracadabra Affair," is a clever detective story in which a clasp is followed through amusing and appalling difficulties. Two important papers in the February Lippincott's compel attention. Captain Leslie J. Perry, late of the War Records Office at Washington, writes about "Lincoln's Official Habit," a eulogies of the birthday of Lincoln, February 12. This embodies some hitherto unpublished letters from President Lincoln to his generals in the field, giving evidence of his punctiliousness, clearness and conciseness. The other paper is the second part of Kitson's "Posthumous essay, 'Music of Shakespeare's Time.'

McClure's for February is full of grandiose things, but with the majority William Allen White's "Grover Cleveland" will have the lead. It is among the best of his notable political sketches, and is dramatic and virile. John LaFarge's paper on Raphael is a fine contribution to art literature. "Marcus's Achievement," by Roy Stannard Baker, is another opportune and readable article. Among the fiction, Josephine Dodge Dakin, Alfred Olivett, Franklin Garland, and other good story tellers give zest to this number.

A cursory glance through the Metropolitan Magazine's table of contents will cause most every Kentuckian to turn first to Mrs. Wilson Woodrow's interesting character sketch, "Colonel Jack Chinn of Kentucky, Sir," he who holds "Ha'olelong first, United States second, world nowhere." Among the other articles that will be read with interest are: "American Society Women Who Have Become Professional Players," "Mabel Adams, Quality Street," "The Happy Lot of Japanese Women," by Onoto Watanna; "The Fascination of Great Fires," "Royal Roads," "Eastern Religions in America," all of which are well illustrated. The fiction is good and abundant. Clinton Ross' story, "What's a Man Without a Penny?" taking the lead.

The February Sun is especially interesting as the novella, "The Flinch of an Emerald," is by Ethel Watts Mumford, and has been pronounced this clever writer's best work. It combines realism, adventure and romance.

Among the notable short story contributions are: Edwina S. Van Zile's story of an unique social situation, dealing with the American divorce question, Edgar Fawcett's story, dealing with phases of American life abroad, Alfred Henry Lewis' "She Stoops to Conquer," an article where history is disguised by trick dialogue and clever description. The tragicomedy in the love affairs of a Japanese, faintly and tenderly told by Onoto Watanna, and J. R. Crawford's bit of inimitable satire, entitled "Polly Pow-wows."

RAPID TRANSIT.

"Folks hab got to rise up in de middle oh do night to get ahead oh my Pomp," announced Mrs. Johnson to an interested friend, as the two women hung out their clothes on neighboring lines one Monday morning. "Is yo habode de way he fix dit trifling mob oh ours yesterday, so we could drive to de sanctuary in peace and quietness?"

"Laws, no, i ain't heard nuffin!" said the other woman eagerly. "My ole man and mo, we nebber got home from spending de day wif Susannah till most midnight."

"Is dat so?" said Mrs. Johnson, who had been alive to this state of affairs, but wished to appear ignorant. "Well, now, you know dat mob oh ours has most destracted de dashboad's ob de car every time wile to de sanctuary!"

The neighbor nodded, with two clothes pins between her lips.

"My Pomp," said Mrs. Johnson, proudly, "has got de contrilance oh Mr. Edison or any ob de loose inventing pensons, and he just turned de sot facing round backward, and put dat trifling mob in backward, and set a basket oh oats just behind de dashboad, right in plain sight on dat mule, and no done push us along to de sanctuary faster dan Pomp, and me obber 'spacted to ride in all our days!"

A THOUSAND DOLLARS

THROWN AWAY.

Mr. W. W. Baker of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife had tongue trouble for over fifteen years. We tried a number of doctors and spent over a thousand dollars without any relief. She was very low, and I lost all hope, when a friend suggested trying Foley's Honey and Tar, which I did, and thanks to this great remedy, it saved her life. She is stronger and enjoys better health than she has ever known in ten years. We shall never be without Foley's Honey and Tar, and would not those afflicted to try it."
